

Kathie Heyman

With 10 years in retail and 15 years running small and medium sized businesses under my belt I have worked hard to master critical business building skills such as: strategic planning, business planning and development, event management, project management, training and assessment, grant writing, reporting and acquittals, database management, business management, business and community economic development, research, marketing and promotion, website development, social media, financial budgeting and management, board governance, writing policy and procedures.

Grant and Tender Writing

Success can only happen when there is a plan that is clearly defined with focused objectives. Grant and tender writing is about more than the project and its aims, it's about telling your story in a compelling and convincing way.

Passionforbusiness.com.au

What people say ...

“If you want smart, practical and realistic business advice, I don’t think you will do any better than Kathie. I’ve known her for a very long time and I’m always impressed by both her humility and her ability to cut through clutter to get to the heart of the issue.

Engaging Kathie is a very wise business move”.

Andrew Griffiths, International Bestselling Author and Global Speaker