Burrumbuttock Preschool News

We have unfortunately had to remove our dear old tree from the Preschool due to it becoming dangerous as limbs were falling and the safety of the everyone had to come first. We were surprised that it took a whole week before two children decided to attempt to get up onto the stump that we have kept to use as a table.

We are slowly moving the remaining logs around the yard to make use of them and we have some great mulch for our garden so our beautiful Chinese Elm may be gone as a shade tree but it still remains at Preschool. Linda Lieschke informed us that Jayden planted it in 1995 with Mrs Mac.

Last week we were lucky to enjoy some home grown water melon, generously donated by the Ashton Jacob family.

We recently found an interesting feather in the yard that we thought looked like a tiger. After some investigating we believe it is from a Boobook Owl. We are now gathering a collection of feathers and continuing our investigations.

And a Great Day was had by all.

The Brock-Burrum Football/Netball club finally had their Annual CASH DRAW on Sunday 6th Feb, after a couple attempts were cancelled due to COVID restrictions in 2021. With great food, company and perfect weather, what more could you ask for, the Cash draw "JACKPOT".

Maurice Hall's ashes spread at "Hallsville"

A small gathering of Maurice Hall's immediate family spread his ashes in the back paddock of Hallsville recently and are pleased that he is finally in the resting place that he wished to be.

A huge thankyou to Andrew and Marion Vile for providing access to Hallsville and for allowing us to complete this task and also enjoy having a look at the old family farm including the original family wool press.

Let's just say it was windy and the wind swirled at the wrong time and yes luckily it was only me that got a "final hug" and needed a shower when I got home!!!

It's a busy time for scammers

by colin Wiltshire

The world of scamming has been growing steadily for many years and its growth seems to have been exponential the last couple of years, since the Chinese epidemic came along.

Attempts to steal your money can come over the phone, via facebook and by email. And they are growing more sophisticated all the time.

What is surprising is the number of scams coming via facebook when the company claims the welfare of its users is its priority, but bans some posts it considers scientifically or politically disagreeable, while allowing terrorist organisations and foreign state agencies, to propagate misleading propaganda.

Facebook also allows overtly scamming advertisements to appear, like a $1800 chain saw for $99 and a $4500-odd excavator for $125.62, and other such blatantly fraudulent adverts.

I'm aware of one case, where a local chap hoped he was buying a diesel pump worth $1200-odd for just $89. The scammers were good, issuing an invoice, contact phone number, and even a tracking number.

Supposedly the pump left America okay, with the tracking number showing it had arrived in Sydney, but then, mysteriously, it was mis-forwarded and disappeared into Queensland. Then communications with the supplier were disconnected.

It's a reminder of earlier days, when the internet was beginning to grow in capacity, and emails started arriving from Nigeria, claiming some government official had secured $8-million, which he needed to get out of the country urgently. He'd needed to deposit it in a foreign bank account, and would like to use the receivers. If anyone agreed, they were then informed that it could only go if they paid the transfer fee. Ha-ha. Some people paid and paid, proving just how gullible and greedy some folk are.

The phone scammers all seem to have the same foreign accent and have names like Daniel, David, Paul, and Tony. Since these names are not common in India, the callers must come from somewhere else but I can't think where.

The phone numbers used by these scammers always used to come up as from overseas, allowing us to ignore them, but now overseas calls can be diverted through a local number apparently.

Typical phone attempts warn us that Amazon is going to withdraw money from our account unless we put a stop on our bank account, and they can fix this for us. Or they tell us that our internet is due for disconnection unless we co-operate with them to remedy an identity problem.

The email scammers have been very busy in recent months, purporting to from our bank and needing to rectify our account numbers, or from Australia Post needing to verify our identity before our parcel can be delivered.

The screenshot shows a fraudulent online store interface. At the top, it says "BIG SALE & SHIPPING WORLDWIDE LIMITED QUANTITIES AVAILABLE! Free shipping over $50". The store has a "Costco WHOLESALE" logo and navigation links for "ALL PRODUCTS", "FEATURED", "CART / $0.00".

The first product is a "MS 881 Gasoline Chainsaw" priced at "$1,799.00" with a "Sale!" tag and a current price of "$99.00". A notice states: "Notice: The site cooperates with COSTCO. Each customer can only buy one product. Anniversary Celebration, Come in while stocks last. Limit 1 Pieces Per Person. Free Shipping on orders over $50. Secure payments." Below the chainsaw are several small images showing it being used.

Brocklesby/Burrumbuttock Netball Club

Hello, and what another hectic few weeks we've had around the courts! You can practically smell the Deep Heat, the season is that close!

Firstly, we had our senior Meet and Greet night at the Brock rec ground on the 27th of January, which was a big success. This was a great opportunity to down a few schnitties off the BBQ and get together and have chat before the seriousness of trials. It also gave all the girls a chance to have a look at the new uniform options we will have coming into place this year! Stay tuned for that one as the season starts! We finished the night off with a wander around our new ladies change rooms over at the courts, which are looking amazing!

The week after we had trials, to which we had a great turnout. This made it very hard for the coaches to pick sides and the full two weeks of trials was needed to select teams. A big well done to all the girls who trialled and gave it their best. It was hot, it was uncomfortable, but the standard of netball that was on show was exceptional. Also, a big thanks to the coaches and the senior coordinator for their roles in trials. It was not easy to pick teams this year but they had the selection process running smoothly.

With our trials done and dusted, we have now started Thursday night training, and have a few practice matches to look forward to.

Our juniors had their Meet and Greet night on the 17th of February, and let me tell you, the turnout was bigger than what we were expecting! Considering we struggled with junior numbers last year, having a lot this year is a good problem to have. We will be looking at having trials for some of the teams with an abundance of players. The Meet and Greet was also a good chance for the juniors to welcome the newly U15s coach, Tahleah Herekiuha. We are now only searching for an U13s coach! Once we have found this, we will have all coaching positions filled!

On the 6th of February, we had the clubs Cash Draw! This was a nice day out in the sunshine with good food and good company. I bet the day was even better for Rachel Koschitzke, who was one half of the winner! Congratulations Rach! There was also a nice moment where the club got to thank the McKimmie Family for everything they have done over the past nearly ten years. We wish them well for the future!

That's about it from me,
Go Saints!
Bec Livermore

Wirraminna News

Restoration of the original woodland environment at Wirraminna involves two major activities: removal of introduced plants, and replacing them with the original grasses and wildflowers. To do this we need seed. This is why we have established a seed production area, as seed of most of our local species is not available.

Spring and summer are very busy times in the Seed Production Area, as each species does what plants do to ensure its survival: produces seed. If we don't manage to collect the seed, we have been wasting our time for the rest of the year. Some plants ripen and drop their seed all at once, and if you are not there at the right time you may lose it. Others ripen progressively over many weeks, and require many visits if we are to collect most of the seed. Particularly, in a year like this, some keep on flowering, and producing seed over many weeks. So this has been a very long harvest, and it is not finished yet.

What to do with all this seed? Some has been sent to Jayfields Nursery to grow plants, for use in Wirraminna, in the Burrumbuttock woodland or by Landcare. We have also provided Murray LLS with some seed for their planting projects. But most of our SPA plants are small understory and groundcover plants and there has not been a great demand for these.

So we have started to broadcast seed over our grassland restoration site to increase the diversity of plants there.

We were very pleased this month to be contacted by the Wodonga Native Garden Nursery, asking if we could supply them with seed. They were very happy to take seed of nearly 20 species, and in return will supply us with plants. We are very happy with this new relationship, as this volunteer group are very experienced with propagation, and supply large numbers of plants to landcare groups in Victoria. They are also interested in obtaining seed sourced from lower rainfall areas than Northeast Victoria, as they consider the prospect of a drier climate.

Wattles all year?

It is often said that there will be at least one wattle in flower every month of the year. Wirraminna has not yet achieved that, but two species are laying claim to February and March. The Deans Wattle and the Mulga are both in flower at present. They are both species that tend to flower in response to rain at any time of year, and are very welcome just now when no other species are out. They are near the path along the farm windbreak on the way to the SPA.

TELL US WHAT YOU THINK: HOW WELCOMING IS GREATER HUME ??

As part of a NSW Government program to work with local communities to attract migrants and refugees to resettle in regional NSW, Greater Hume residents are invited to provide feedback about welcoming newcomers to their local neighbourhoods.

Share your views via a confidential survey

Are people in your local area willing to help newcomers? How does immigration shape Australian communities?

A confidential online survey is open now to residents.

The survey will take only a few minutes and can be completed on a smartphone, tablet or personal computer by following this link: <https://welcomingaustralia.typeform.com/attitudes>

Research and community consultation led by Holbrook's Deborah Atkins

Deborah Atkins (pic below) has been appointed by Greater Hume Council to undertake research across our region.

In addition to the survey, Deborah will meet with residents, community group representatives, local businesses and other key stakeholders to get their input and views.

Deborah's work will seek to understand current community attitudes and preparedness to welcome newcomers, available services and employment opportunities, as well to understand the journey so far for the many newcomers who already live here.

Deborah will be located at Holbrook, where she lives, and will be working part time for approximately 12 weeks on this stage of the project. Deborah has extensive experience coordinating community research projects across Australia and has worked with many organisations including Universities, High Schools, Women's Health Centres, Youth programmes, Migrant services, Government and non-government organisations.

The Greater Hume Council is confident that stakeholders and the community will be supportive of Deborah as she goes about this work.

NSW Growing Regions of Welcome Pilot Program

This research is part of Multicultural NSW's Growing Regions of Welcome (NSW GROW) Pilot, a three-year program that works with local communities to attract migrants and refugees to resettle in regional NSW. The focus is on people living in western Sydney with the skills and aspirations to move to the Murray and Riverina regions for employment and lifestyle opportunities. The overall aim is to provide migrants and refugees with the information and support they need to relocate to the regions, and support communities in the Murray and Riverina to welcome newcomers and help them to thrive in the long-term.

As part of NSW GROW, Welcoming Australia is coordinating the survey and supporting research in the Greater Hume region in collaboration with Greater Hume Council. The research will help our communities to better understand how ready they are to welcome people from migrant and refugee backgrounds.

Waratah art on display at Murray Art Museum Albury, until 10th April.

Free exhibition.

Last year Waratah students participated in the HOME art program. Students' possum art is now exhibited at the gallery, as part of a collaboration between the Small Schools Network. Students contributed their individual possum art, to make a larger artwork, representing a possum skin cloak.

HOME Aboriginal art from New South Wales

This artwork has been made by students from Burrumbuttock, Culcairn, Hume, and Walla Walla Public Schools.

Artist Lorraine Connelly-Nortey, a descendent of the Waradgerie (Wiradjuri) people, guided teachers and their students at each school, sharing traditional cultural knowledge. Highlighted in these teachings was the study of the South East Aboriginal practice of possum skin cloak making, a traditional form of garment making that has had an active resurgence in recent decades.

Aunty Lorraine is a nationally celebrated artist, who was born at Swan Hill and now lives and works on Waradgerie Country. Her work involves the collection of abandoned old rubbish, scattered and dumped within her tribal boundary and on the Country of her birth. This material is assembled using methods that reference traditional Aboriginal weaving techniques.

The HOME program is an education partnership between The Arts Unit, NSW Department of Education and the Art Gallery of New South Wales, in association with Murray Art Museum Albury.
