Burrumbuttock Flower Show and Open Garden a real success.

Most Successful Exhibitor Min Hamdorf pictured with the Ian Glachan Memorial Trophy

We were so fortunate to finally have some fine weather!

The sun came out after weeks of rain and cloudy weather, and people came out in their droves. The hall was full of flowers and fragrance, as well as photography, cooking and craft displays. They explored Syd Churcher's 1928 Rugby truck with mobile blacksmith's shop and his old gardening implements, and many enjoyed the entertaining and informative flora design workshops held at the rear of the Hall.

There was face painting and novelty balloons for children, Dylan Raath guitarist and singer, and an open garden just down the road.

Many of the stalls were spread around the Urana Roadside of the Hall this year which worked really well as there was much more room for them. They were all very interesting and many garden-related. All stall holders were very happy with the day's takings.

The School P.&C. worked flat out all day serving delicious morning/afternoon teas and lunches, while the barbeque out the back was very well patronised.

There were a lot of entries in the container plants and floral art this year, as well as vegetable people. Rose entries were less this year due to the wet and cooler conditions this season, but iris entries were excellent for the very same reason. Photography and cooking sections were lighter on this year, but the Children's art and craft items were excellent. It's always inspiring to see people's talents displayed. Congratulations to all winners of the sections!

The raffle was particularly successful this year with the gorilla cart full of garden equipment being a real drawcard, along with the bird bath. The winners were: 1st prize – John Cockerell from Numurkah, 2nd prize – Tracey Harrison, 3rd prize – Isobel Scott. We appreciate the Commercial Club donating $150 towards this raffle.

Thank you to Fe Coleman and Howard Hodgetts for generously opening their garden 'Thurso' to help attract extra visitors to the Show. They had a lot of visitors throughout the day, and it was very convenient for people from town to drop in on the way to and from Burrumbuttock.

Publicity was more extensive this year with high-visibility advertising in the Border Mail, along with article and photo promoting the event, and a bold and beautiful poster. There were at least three mentions about the event on ABC radio in the preceding week. Of course, the Bale Art butterfly outside the Hall by Fe Coleman and Estrella Wiltshire was also great advertising for the event. One woman had travelled from as far away as Yea, Victoria for her local community, to research how our flower show was organised.

This year we were fortunate to receive grant money from the NSW Government's Reconnecting Regional NSW Community Event Program. This program was aimed at getting communities to re-connect after the COVID pandemic had impacted so much on social participation. Free admission attracted a lot of people for a great family day out. The Greater Hume Shire was very helpful during planning, overseeing the grant application process. Kerrie Wise needs particular mention for her regular support in the lead-up to the event. Flower Show Open Garden Thurso

Sometimes your luck holds:

Wednesday: It is going to rain all day – “you won’t be able to have a show”.

Thursday: “It’s going to be wet, but perhaps not so bad”...

Friday: “We may have to postpone the show” – how do you “postpone” a garden? It is like training a racehorse – you get it ready to peak for a certain day!

Saturday: Mowing in the wet, more raking, trimming, deadheading, forecast for rain late in the day – we might be ok.....

Sunday 30th October: SUNSHINE! All systems go, signs out, exhibitors set up, and gates open. Approximately 250 people walked around the garden at “Thurso” in what proved to be a very happy day. The Squirrel Glider Information exhibit, the Australian Gardens for Wildlife exhibit, Wirraminna and the Thurgoona Mens Shed all provided valuable information for gardeners and wildlife enthusiasts alike. An extra point of interest was the participation of the Jaguar Car Club of NE Victoria for a picnic lunch.

Much credit goes to all who helped in the preparations, car parking (thanks Ben and Ken), and hosting at the garden which combined to make it a successful open garden for 2022. We so enjoyed meeting everyone. Fe Coleman and Howard Hodgetts

A town mourns...

Mitsch, Kurtis 2.3.2000 – 2.10.2022

Passed away suddenly as the result of an accident. Dearly beloved son of Wal and Kathryn. Loved brother of Rhys, Morgan and Brynn.

2000 mourners gathered at the Burrumbuttock Recreation Ground on Wednesday 19 October to celebration of the life of Kurtis Mitsch 2022, to celebrate the life of Kurtis.

It is very sad that someone so young has had his life taken so tragically. Our thoughts are with the family and hope that they can find the strength and courage to deal with this loss.

Rest In Peace

On Sunday 23 October 2022 over 130 people gathered to celebrate the founding of the Congregation of Holy Cross Lutheran Church Burrumbuttock.

Civic and Church dignitaries included Mr Justin Clancy, MLA; Mr Tony Quinn, Shire Mayor; Rev Richard Schwedes, Assistant Bishop Lutheran Church NSW) who were driven to the church in the church in a horse drawn carriage as this was how people arrived at the church in the early days.

They were followed into the church grounds by a procession comprising Rev Christian Fandrich, current serving minister of the Burrumbuttock Parish; two previous serving Pastors: Rev Haydn Blaess and Rev Ian Kotzur; and members of the Congregation, all carrying the Altar vessels.

A welcome was given by the Congregation Chairman, Mr Craig Severin.

Pastor Fandrich commenced the service at the front door of the church, opened the doors, and the congregation then followed the procession.

The Service continued with hymns and bible readings, sermon, and choir items.

At the conclusion of the Service everyone present was invited to lunch in the Burrumbuttock Hall catered by the Recreation Ground Committee.

History of the Church can be found on Page 17

A fantastic night was had by the 200 plus family members, friends and supporters in attendance. The evening was combined with the junior netball teams. The nice new Functions room at the Brocklesby Recreation Ground was bursting at the seams. It was just so good to see the level of excitement and support for the Junior footballers at the club. A real indication of a very healthy club. The votes and relevant pictures came over the Big Screen as votes were counted and tallied round by round. Dinner was delicious, the company was great, and no one wanted to leave at the end of the evening.

Celebrating
50 Years
Of Early Childhood Education
& Christmas Concert

We are celebrating 50 Years of providing Early Childhood Education to our Community and would love everyone to come and celebrate.

Celebrations will occur on Sunday, 27th November.

We will begin with a morning tea at 10.30 followed by Concert with the Children at approximately 11.15am. We will then have official speeches and a BBQ lunch.

RSVP

To RSVP and for more information please contact the Preschool on 0480 186 371 or 02 6029 3343.

We encourage everyone to spread the word far and wide to anyone who you think would like to come.

Burrumbuttock Preschool LIMITED places for 2023

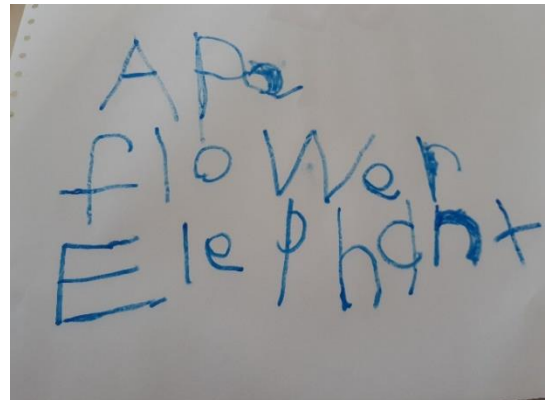

We started the term reading a new story that Michelle Rainbow has donated called Same by Katrina Roe. This beautiful story reminded us that we are all different but are still the same in many ways. It gently tells the story of a little girl who is afraid of her Uncle as he is in a wheelchair and finds it difficult to communicate with speech. She does a drawing for him and then despite his physical limitations does a drawing for her and they turn out to be “the same” type of drawing. We are all different and have different skills and abilities in the big world that we live in and we enjoy sharing this message with the children that we teach.

Our literacy skills are developing rapidly across the group. We are exploring writing our own names, others names, words from books and also making other names/words with magnetic letters. We are also exploring readers together as a group, learning to look at the pictures for cues to predict what the words say. We enjoyed creating art for the Walbundrie Show and were very successful with First and Second places as well as Highly Commended and Encouragement awards received. We are currently working on Art for the Burrumbuttock Flower Show. It is wonderful to again be able to be involved in these local events.

A huge thankyou to Janene Whitty (and James) for our Preschool photos. We are looking forward to seeing them all.

50th Celebrations and Preschool Christmas Concert will now occur on Sunday, 27th November. Morning tea is at 10.30 followed by Concert at 11.15am then official speeches, photos and a Barbeque Lunch to follow. Everyone is welcome.

2023 Enrolment: we have very limited spaces for 2023 so please contact Fleur on 0480 186 371 or 60293343 to discuss enrolling your child. Please pass this onto anyone who maybe interested.

World Teacher's Day!

On Friday 28th October it is World Teacher's Day.

We asked the students what makes a good teacher, what do good teachers do for you and why they like their teachers here at Burrumbuttock Public School!

- 'The teachers at Burrumbuttock PS use nice words and help me when I struggle in class.' Savannah
- 'Thank you, Mrs Church, for teaching me, helping me to learn new things and comforting me' Ava
- 'Thank you, Mrs Macarthur, for being nice and helping me' Spencer
- 'The teachers help me write' Kruze
- 'Ms J helps me a lot in the classroom and is nice and kind to me' Mason
- 'Mr Mac does a good job teaching us, he is funny and nice' Jordan
- 'Mrs T is very helpful and explains things in learning to help me understand them' Isabella
- 'Miss Lawrence helps me with art' Cooper

THANK YOU TO OUR FANTASTIC TEACHERS AT BURRUMBUTTOCK PUBLIC SCHOOL!!
WE ARE VERY LUCKY TO HAVE SUCH DYNAMIC STAFF AT OUR SCHOOL

Dartmouth Dam overflows...first time in 26 years

It had been 26 years since anyone last heard the roar of water cascading down the Dartmouth Dam spillway in north-east Victoria.

The spill was the fifth since the storage was completed in 1979 and the first since November 1996.

The rare event brought thousands of tourists to the Mitta Valley to see the spillway and local businesses were enjoying the boom after the pandemic.

But the cascade of awe and wonder brought trepidation for those downstream.

Weir keeper Peter Liepkalns (pictured) said he was acutely aware of his responsibility, having managed the dam for 45 years. "It's not an ideal situation," he said.

He said downstream effects included restriction of generation capacity at Dartmouth's AGL power station.

When you think of it, this storage is the storage of last resort and we're here for drought, for containment of drought water.

Dartmouth Dam is operated by Goulburn-Murray Water on behalf of the Murray-Darling Basin Authority and is the highest structure of its kind in Australia. When full, the dam stores almost four million megalitres with the primary purpose of irrigation and domestic stock use in New South Wales and Victoria.

Mr Liepkalns' job is to manage the storage — which includes upgrading the telemetry systems, maintenance on the structure and releasing water. "We have daily consultation with the Murray-Darling Basin Authority and look at rain events, and make changes to outflows," he said "Everything is done quite conservatively but once it goes over the spillway, it's out of your control."

With a third year of La Nina and potential for flooding, he said he and others were no match for Mother Nature.

Extensive maintenance is required on the spillway after an event. For now, all he can do is keep the gates open and hope the water flows away without too much destruction in its wake.

He said there was about 5,000 megalitres currently going over the spillway each day and anticipated the spill would continue for months. "Water will be going over for an extended period due to the Bureau of Meteorology's outlook," he said. "It's indicating an 80 per cent chance of above average rain until December unfortunately."

Farmers brace for major flooding

Mitta Valley dairy farmer Cameron Patron's land was flooded during 1996 spill.

Mt Bogong's snow melt is yet to flow into Lake Dartmouth.

He said he had already lost access to pastures underwater this year and feared more land would be cut off as water came down the Mitta River.

"We immediately lose acres of country — it's disappointing in a year when the cows are performing the best they've ever done and the price is comfortable," he said. "We're looking down the barrel of losing 250 acres of pastures and we'll have to buy fodder just to function."

1996 spill

Up to 20,000 megalitres a day went over the spillway last time the dam spilled. "In 1996 it was unfortunately impressive," Mr Liepkalns said. "There was a lot of water going over the top, it caused a lot of damage downstream down into the farmers' land. He said it took away their ability to graze cattle, affected grass growth and led to an expensive refurbishment of the spillway. Source: ABC Rural/Annie Brown.

150th Anniversary Celebration

The founding of the Congregation of Holy Cross Lutheran Church Burrumbuttock

Background History

The first Lutheran settlements in the Riverina were formed towards the end of the 1860's, by migrants from Germany. They were finding their comparatively small farms to be no longer economically sustainable and were increasingly unsettled by the religious and political instability in the German states during that time. Initially locating in South Australia, many decided to explore further afield, and several waves composed largely of family groups with some single men headed in their tarpaulin-covered wagons to the fertile fields north of Albury.

Naturally, the local press took notice of this quite considerable transmigration, with the Albury papers reporting at the time that "about 80 wagons arrived during the end of 1866 and the first half of 1867".

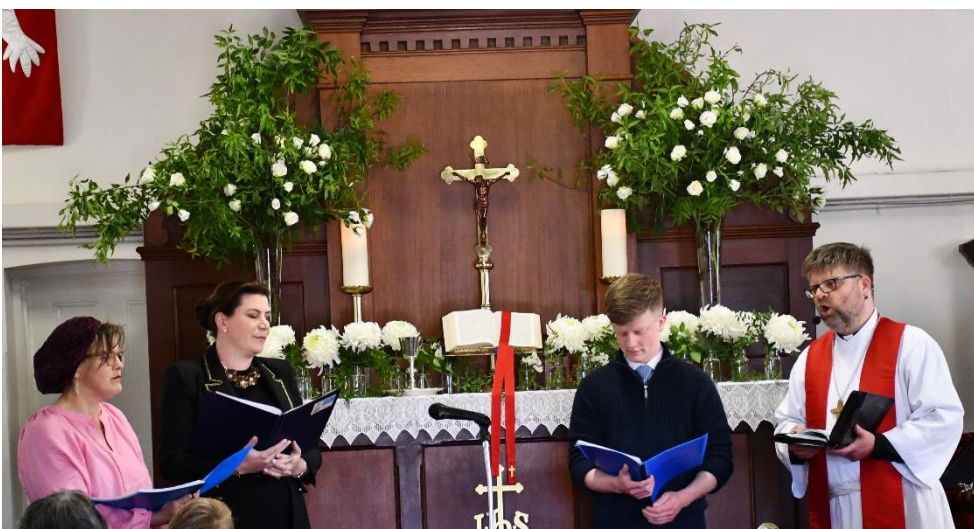

These settlers were not only diligent tillers of the soil who eventually prospered, but they were also earnest Christians. They held lay services in their homesteads every Sunday, and as soon as was conveniently possible, they erected churches and schools.

The congregation at Burrumbuttock was formed in 1872, and the members met in individual homes until they built their first church in 1877, a slab and mud wall construction with a straw roof, on the Burrumbuttock-Brocklesby Road.

By the next decade, a larger building was commissioned, and the present church was opened in 1888.

Descriptions of both dedication ceremonies were described contemporaneously in the Kirchenbote, some details of which the Anniversary Celebration on Sunday was replicating:

- It was a fine day after weeks of rain and visitors came from far and near...first we assembled in a member's home, then we moved in procession to the new church...the key was carried...the door was opened...everyone thronged into the new building which was beautifully decorated.... (1877)
- The bush around was covered with buggies, wagonettes, spring carts, saddlehorses....A large festive congregation assembled around the church... the Pastor read a passage from Scripture then opened the door in the name of the Triune God...the Elders presented the sacred vessels to be placed on the Altar... the Congregation then moved into the new church (1888)

150th Anniversary Celebration of the Lutheran Church cont'd

What place does the Congregation hold in the community?

The congregation largely reflects the community in which it is based, in that it is characteristically rural in its daily concerns, but with a weather eye on national and international events.

In the frequently turbulent and testing years – socially, politically and economically- since its inception, the regularity of Christian worship and fellowship has provided stability and strength not only to Congregation members, but also to many in the wider community.

The church is used regularly for baptisms, weddings, funerals and other fundamental events in community life.

Significantly, the Women’s Fellowship group meets monthly with a large membership that extends beyond the Congregation, and through its healthy fund-raising activities, contributes generously to causes locally, more widely in Australia, and also to those in need overseas.

Also, importantly to the community, the Congregation hosts a local Pre-school, run out the hall in the church grounds. Initiated some fifty years ago, the Pre-school has been a continuously and successfully functioning entity serving the community with widespread support. The first teacher was a member of the Congregation, and the school was fully funded by the Congregation. Since then, with additional government funding and parental fundraising, the facility has been regularly upgraded, and has consistently full enrolments.

 IN GREATER HUME

Local Land Services Media Release Flood preparedness key with more rain forecast

With dams and waterways at capacity and more rain forecast, Local Land Services is urging landholders to use coming days to review and enact their farm emergency plan. Severe weather warnings have been issued for large parts of western, southern, central and northern NSW, with the weather system moving east throughout the week. Ensuring animals are factored into flood planning, Local Land Services Emergency Management Coordinator Piers Harper said having a farm emergency plan will reduce stress, allow clearer thinking and improve the chances of keeping you and your livestock safe should flood waters arrive. "Planning will not only protect your home, property and business. You also have an obligation to protect your livestock and pets from drowning," Mr Harper said. "Your flood plan doesn't have to be complicated. In fact, it needs to be as easy and straightforward as possible so that if you are away someone else can implement it on your behalf. "The State Emergency Service (SES) has a wide range of resources on its website to help you plan and prepare your property and livestock. "You can also visit the Local Land Services website to download a copy our Farm Flood Readiness Kit." Prepared by specialist emergency management staff from Local Land Services, the Flood Readiness Kit helps landholders identify flood risks and hazards using a simple checklist. There is also a section to record stock numbers, property information and key contacts to engage in your planning "We encourage you to identify and move livestock to a 'safe' area on your property where they are away from danger but still have access to food and water," Mr Harper said. "You should remove pumps from waterways, secure moveable objects like bale feeders and where possible, move farm equipment to higher ground. "It's also important to store all chemicals securely and out of potential floodwater levels." Should further flood warnings be issued in coming days, it is important to monitor weather updates and warnings from the Bureau of Meteorology (BOM), as well as flood alerts on the SES. Flower Show and Open Garden cont'd

Big thankyou goes to the following contributors:

Co-ordinator: Christine Nesbit, Secretary: Marion Vile

Treasurer: Janice Whitty

Marketing and Advertising: Tracey Harrison

Market Stalls and Raffle Organisation: Sue Saunders

Flowers and Photography: Min Hamdorf

Craft: Gloria Hall, Marion Vile, Fleur Hall, Myrna Frohling

Cooking: Sadie Krzywnicki and Rhonda Litchfield

Committee members Rebecca Lindner, Fe Coleman, Estrella Wiltshire, Rhonda Burns, and Fiona Schulz.

All the volunteers who assisted, with selling raffle tickets, and especially with the working bees to set up the Hall and pack up - there are too many to mention and we do not want to forget someone important. It was a big job, but many hands made light work!

Janice Whitty looking very pleased at winner her first ever prize at the Flower Show.

Winner Junior MasterChef, Cooking 15 years and Under and Champion Cake

All the donors of prizes for the various sections of the Flower Show.

And finally, everyone who entered in the Flower Show, as without your efforts, there would be nothing for people to admire and aspire to.

Monies raised will benefit the upkeep and maintenance of the Hall, but figures are still being finalised.

Overall, a wonderful day. It was all about reconnecting community and participation and that's what was achieved. A huge effort by all.

There will be an evaluation meeting in coming weeks, so the committee welcomes any feedback. Marion Vile, Secretary

ABOUT

This November, Jindera Theatrical Society presents Agatha Christie's "Spider's Web". This critically acclaimed comedy thriller ran for an historic 774 consecutive performances in London after its debut. A conscious parody of the detective thriller, Christie delivers a unique blend of suspense and humour. There is tension and laughter in equal parts in an intricate plot of murder, police, drug addicts, invisible ink, hidden doorways and secret drawers. Proceeds for the show will go towards fundraising efforts for the new multi-purpose hall in Jindera. Come along and support this worthy initiative and witness some great local talent. There will be refreshments available before the show and during the intermission.

Recommended for ages 10+.
