What! An earthquake in Burrum!

By Colin Wiltshire

For most of us the earthquake last Wednesday 22 September, at 9.15am started as a bit of mystery, even confusing, since we've never experienced such an event before. While Australia has had the odd quake including the Newcastle shocker in 1989, which killed 13 people, we don't expect them, or consider them seriously.

Unlike people living in places like along the San Andreas Fault in California, or Tokyo, who are familiar with the sound and the feel, and who know straight away what's happening, most of us took some time to recognise the reality.

I was in the kitchen and heard a rumble, as if someone was rolling an empty drum down the footpath, out front. I went to the window but couldn't see anyone; then there was a rattle in the ceiling.

The thought of an earthquake had not occurred to me yet, but I decided to take a walk around the house to see if there was any explanation for the noises.

Ah – there was a clue! A half 44-gallon drum we keep under one of the gutters to collect garden water, had spilt water onto the ground, despite the fact the water level in the drum was now motionless and about 75mm below the drum's rim.

The idea of the quake was a thought, but in Burrumbuttock, that remained difficult to accept. There was no more evidence outside the house, so I returned to eating breakfast, but before doing so, felt the call of the water closet.

Peering into the thunderbox, I noticed the water level there was lower than it should have been, which meant the mystery had washed water out the back of the bowl.

So, it must have been an earthquake, but I'd felt nothing, no vibration or movement.

Meanwhile, Estrella who was lying awake in bed, knew exactly what was happening, as soon as it began. Such events are not unusual in the Philippines, with the big 7.7 one killing an estimated 1000 in 1990. She'd felt quite a few tremors before. The light above her bed swayed, and the mattress beneath shook a little.

However, the most amusing story of the confusion caused by the incident, is the tale of three retired gentlemen, who were digging a post out of the ground. Well, at least one of them was digging, while the other two were there merely in an advisory capacity.

When the 5.7 magnitude reverberations resonated about their endeavours, none let on they were aware something was happening. Digging did not pause, the advising continued, and for all intents and purposes everything was normal, nothing had happened.

A few minutes later a phone rang, and a wife wanted to know if the digger had felt the earthquake, and if he was okay.

A rye smile turned to his companions. "Yes, love, I'm fine", was possibly his comment. When the apparent was blatant, there was relief, and a touch of embarrassment. All had felt the quake but understandably none considered the possibility of an earthquake in Burrumbuttock.

This left them to seek alternative explanations. Maybe their age, which combined is around 200 years, says a lot about their reasoning, and the deductions they reached.

The digger decided he'd suffered a dizzy spell, which was a private and personal matter; advisor number one who has some sort of heart issue anyway put it down to his existing ailment, and deemed it confidential; while advisor number two found the answer in a surge of vertigo, supposedly because he's experienced it before.

When daylight shone on the facts, it triggered some amusement, but it demonstrated how we humans want an answer for most things, especially if we think it has health implications, no matter how spurious.

Church gets a makeover.

Work is underway on the Holy Cross church, to correct a problem which has dogged the building pretty much ever since it was erected 133 years ago.

The moving clay soils have constantly caused cracking in the brick work, and over the years remedial actions have been necessary at regular intervals. This latest repair work will fill crack, repair plaster and a fresh coat of paint will finish off the job. Henty contractor Uwe Stroh, said he expected to take five or six weeks to complete the work.

Some indication of how extensive is the problem in area, is seen in the fact that over the years, three manses have been built, so great has been the damage to the previous structures. The first one was past saving, and the second one was erected, but by 1956 it needed repairs, and the current manse went up in 1975.

The first extensive renovation to the church was completed in 1938, in readiness for the church's Golden Jubilee. At the time internal and external repairs and painting were carried out, as well, carpets were laid, drapes were hung, and the altar and furnishings were remodelled.

In 1955 extensive cracking called for another extensive renovation. In 1977 the problem was back and more work was undertaken. However, it seems this latest problem convinced the building's committee they needed to carry out more substantial remediation, if they were to halt what appeared to be a persistent and increasing problem.

Each of the church's corner buttresses were secured and tied together with steel beams, then steel bars ran from corner to corner, one along the walls at ceiling height and others at floor level, tying the whole building together.

However, this significant work, while it has fortified the super structure, it has failed to prevent some cracking.

Colin Wiltshire

Uwe Roth has about six weeks of work to bring the plaster work back to a good condition and paint the interior of the Holy Cross. Most of the furniture was removed before he started work

PUBLIC HALL ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING

The AGM was held on 15th September 2021.

President Jeff thanked the committee for their work over past twelve months.

He reflected on the past year that was quieter due to Covid restrictions.

The recent 'appreciation afternoon tea' went well with all in attendance enjoying the opportunity to get together. The new Hall booking system is working well with all bookings now directed to Hall email address and Fe Coleman's phone contact details. The toilet and shower facilities were upgraded by the Council.

The raised herb/vegetable garden bed was built at the rear of the Hall and has been planted out. Campsite usage was strong after the last Covid lockdown was lifted.

Burrumbuttock Hotel memorabilia returned to its rightful home

There was a very significant picture of the Farmers Inn Hotel in the 1880's that has been missing from the Hotel for over 20 years.

It would appear that the publicans at the time Michael and Debbie Green (licensees from 10/5/2002) decided that when they moved to Tasmania to live, they took with them memorabilia from the hotel which included this picture. Locals were very disappointed that this piece of history was taken.

As it would happen the current licensee Mardi Klein's son, went to school with the Baker Family and they were friends of Michael and Debbie Green. The Bakers went on a holiday to Tasmania and stayed with the Greens.

The Greens announced that they had a photo of the Burrumbuttock Hotel and no longer wanted it so they gave it to the Baker family to return to Albury/Burrumbuttock which they have done. It was reframed by Jim Marshall and now proudly hangs up in the Burrumbuttock Hotel.

The back of this photo has been signed by publicans/licensees from 1880 to this current day.

Mardi Klein has been the longest licensee of the Farmers Inn Hotel commencing 14/9/2007.

'Twas in the coaching days of the 90's
When whiskers were loose & trousers were tight,
Then even without "Persil", the aprons were white.

A one time owner of this hotel, and also owner of the then Old Albury Hotel, sold the Farmers' Inn together with 80 acres of land for .. £500 .. to adjoining farmer, Mr. T. Doogan.

The 1960 Government valuation of the new hotel is .. £20,000. including 8 acres of land.

In foreground of this photo is Mr. H. Menz builder & first licensee of the Burrumbuttock PUB. Behind him is the horse loving groom, who for 25 years changed horses for the "air-conditioned" Royal Mail coach drivers from Albury to Mahonga; Walbundrie then being the other change over stable.

Note the kerosene street lamp on the post, which would help to show if farmers were all "Inn" for a night out to "have a few in".

The donor of this historical record, Otto Schlig, desires it to be a fixture in this modern building in memory of our Pioneers, and also as a tribute to the owner of this 1960 model hotel, Mr. Bert Seaton of Albury for his confidence in Burrumbuttock, which in Abbo language means "The backbone of a bullock".

List of licencees over a period of 80 years:- it appears that the first licencee was H. Menz, followed by C. Schmidt, then from 1895 on W. Lord for 2 years, J. Vay (1 yr), Mc Cormack (7), O'Farrel (1), T. Doogan (1), P. Baine (16), Allan ( $\frac{3}{4}$ ), Mc Cullough ( $\frac{1}{4}$ ), Campbell (2), Bowe (2), W. Haberman (1), Mrs. Fardy (3), Crawley (2), Baine (3), Mrs. Spence (1), Logan (1), Davies (1), Montgomery (1), Loftus (1), Cesco (1), McGill ( $\frac{1}{4}$ ), Preston ( $\frac{1}{4}$ ), Malloy ( $\frac{1}{4}$ ), Mrs. Kelleher (4), Drew ( $\frac{3}{4}$ ), Douglas ( $\frac{1}{4}$ ), Bradshaw ( $\frac{1}{4}$ ), Smith ( $\frac{1}{4}$ ), Ryan (1), Mrs. Gladman (4), Dutton (2), Pettitt (2), Dutton (1) then the big fire in 1954 and reopened by Dutton in temporary bar for  $3\frac{1}{2}$  years after a lapse of  $1\frac{1}{2}$  yrs, then taken over by our local Mr. J. Wood in 1959 who was Mine Host of the new hotel reopened in July, 1960.

Football Junior awards go ahead despite the Covid chaos

G'Day All and welcome to October. Unfortunately, the 2021 season was cut short and the tough decision was made that no finals could be played. We had our Senior and Reserves ready to have a red hot crack at the flag but due to what was happening in the State with Covid, meant Community sport couldn't be played until mid-October, thus bringing an end to the season.

At this stage, there has been no decision made about whether to award some form of premiership, and no word on when a League medal count may go ahead.

A big Thank you to Braden Eddy and Nathan Powell for a great job in coaching the sides. Mark Korszenowski and Ash Lindner for being the team managers, Darryl Denton, Grahame Terlich, Chris Lloyd, David Ceglar and Tony Singe for umpiring, and all of the parents that helped out with jobs throughout the year.

On Sunday the 26th of September we held our Junior presentation at Brocklesby. It was great to see a big crowd come along (and abide by the Covidsafe regulations), and at least get some closure for the 2021 season. The trophy winners for 2021 are;

that grow in the drier parts of our region. Seems appropriate as the pines were gradually dying because of the droughts of the last 20 years.

We have been funded to plant these representatives of the regions to the west and north of us, which are being predicted to be the in the climate that we will have in 30-50 years. The challenge has been to find plants which, although in some cases are same species that already occur locally, are grown from seed collected from the drier end of their range, for example Deniliquin or Parkes. There are not many plant nurseries in those areas that can supply these plants. So, Paula Sheehan, who applied for and won the funding, has very generously put in a lot of time chasing the plants we need. We are still short of some species we wanted but Paula has managed to find seed, so next year we hope to have the plants.

The planting is designed to reflect the original "Nelder" wagon-wheel pattern with five broad spokes, each representing a plant community from the west and north of us. The first spoke is a Boree/Cooba woodland. These wattles are common north of Deniliquin, where it is generally too dry for Eucalypts. We hope to have quite a few saltbushes when we can get them. We have used a gravel mulch to make the area look drier and to discourage many of our local high rainfall weeds. The next spoke is a Cypress Pine/Buloke woodland, also in gravel, which is a common western woodland community. Then we have planted Grey Box, mixed with Bimble Box, with some beautiful Wilgas, which occur west and north of here. The last two spokes are Yellow box and White box, which are common around here, but we have used plants from further west, on the basis that the trees growing in the drier areas will be better adapted to drought. Less obvious than the trees, is the understory: shrub species that are better adapted to future environmental conditions. All the species choices have

Wirraminna News

Spring is in full bloom now, and the weeds are growing even faster. However, they have not had as much attention as they should because it has been a big planting month. We received the specially ordered plants for replanting the Nelder. Instead of the Radiata Pines, which were a relic of the Paper Mill's enthusiasm for locally grown woodchips for their paper machines, we are planting samples of five vegetation systems been based on published descriptions of these plant communities from west and north of here.

It has been a huge job to get all these plants together and we greatly appreciate the help Paula has given us. Sue has also put in a lot of thought and research to come up with the species we need. This is a long-term project. It will need a few years for the plants to grow and a sense of the different plant communities; even longer for there to be any indication that the seed sources from out west and north are better adapted to our changing climate, but gardeners and vegetation restorers have to learn to be patient.
