RAND-WALBUNDRIE-WALLA GRAND FINAL REPORT

By Brett Kohlhagen

Rand-Walbundrie-Walla under 17 coach Matt Robertson believes the club's future is in good hands after the side played off in Saturday's grand final at Walbundrie.

Although the Giants lost to Henty by 21 points, Robertson said 2025 had been an enormous success.

The Giants were chasing their second under 17 premiership in four years.

"We were definitely disappointed to lose but the year has been outstanding from a club and team point of view," Robertson said.

"It was great to see the boys enjoying themselves so much throughout the year.

"Unfortunately, we didn't get the chocolates but the season was a success nonetheless."

Walla defenders Logan Feuerherdt and Jimmy Heir were the Giants best players in the grand final.

Feuerherdt continued his strong finals series with many dashing runs from the backline.

On one occasion he took five bounces running down the ground and narrowly missed a long range shot at goal.

Heir was rock solid under pressure, taking several strong marks and finding teammates with accurate disposal.

"They were both absolutely amazing," Robertson said.

"Logan's run off half back really drove our defence and he couldn't be stopped.

"Jimmy's ability to read and intercept was outstanding."

The Giants trailed by only four points at half-time before Henty made its move in the third quarter with four goals.

The Walbundrie oval was in sensational condition with a huge crowd watching the football and netball.

OCTOBER AG REPORT

As we enter spring, rainfall has remained patchy across the district, resulting in inconsistencies in crop growth and development. Early emerged cereals and canola have generally fared well, with yield potentials still quite high. However, later-sown paddocks in drier pockets are lagging and will require on going rainfall and cooler temperatures to ensure they can maximise yield. A key issue emerging this season is the potential for disease outbreaks, particularly in cereal and canola crops. With mild weather and sporadic rainfall encouraging leaf wetness, the risk of diseases such as stripe rust and septoria in cereals, along with blackleg and sclerotinia in canola has increased. This is the reason a number of planes have been buzzing around the region! Warming temperatures combined with recent rainfall have also provided ideal conditions for strong pasture growth in the area. Lucerne, across the board, is responding well however there are isolated areas of aphids affecting growth, so it is crucial to inspect stands and make sure they're not being compromised. There has also been a small amount of hybrid ryegrass cut as fine chop silage, as growers begin to rebuild fodder stocks after the extended period of dry weather!

WALLA NORTH WALLA TENNIS CLUB NEWS

Walla North Walla Tennis Club operate from their sports ground tennis complex situated at the Eastern end of William Street.

They have weekly social tennis mornings every Tuesday. All levels are catered for from beginners to graded players. It is a mixed event and is always followed by morning tea. Anybody wishing to participate is welcome to come along. Ex players who have not played for several years are encouraged to give it a go. The club still has several members aged in their eighties who attend regularly. No racket, not an issue, the club has several spare rackets available for use.

The club also competes in the Hume Country Tennis Association summer competition on Saturday afternoons. We field 3 teams with abilities ranging from top level players to juniors and beginners. Anyone who is interested in playing is more than welcome to contact any of our executive committee. We never seem to have too many players. This coming year there are almost 55 teams representing 16 clubs competing. The Hume Country Association is one of the largest in area tennis competitions in Australia.

We are always looking for junior players. Junior players are the future of all clubs. Anyone who has children or grandkids and would like to have them try out at tennis we offer free basic coaching and a hit up every Tuesday afternoon at the courts commencing at 4-30pm. Kids that can play are also welcome, as are parents and players that would like to help or assist.

WALLA WALLA MEN'S SHED Inc Update

The pie drive was very well supported by our citizens. The result was $494 earned by our men's shed for conducting the pie drive, which will be used in our community. We are getting work around town and we can do tip runs for citizens who cannot manage to do this for themselves. Only a small fee and tip fees will be charged. Sunflower seeds are now at post office for gold coin donation.

We have also been busy making chairs and kids mud kitchens.

Kids mud kitchens are made to order for $200. See picture above.

Weeds at Walla Walla by Herb Simpfendorfer

A few days ago I was enjoying a nice cuppa at the Food Mill, minding my own business when I was approached by a person who is an Expert about weeds at Walla. Without saying Hi, she looked straight at me and said, "What about chick weed?" This was our conversation:

Herb: Does it have prickles?

Ex: No.

H: Is it noxious?

Ex. Well, no.

H: I know about bindii, cape weed and marshmallow and not much else.

Ex: Then it's time you learned about chick weed!!!

So I went home and Googled chickweed to increase my scanty knowledge of weeds. Then I went out and about and bent down to closely see small low growing plants. Chickweed was growing all over the place. It hides amongst grass and lawn and often beats them in the battle for survival.

It has small round leaves and small white flowers. It goes to seed in about four weeks then dies off. It is easy to pull it up. Low mowing helps control it. Lots more information on the Internet.

Another grass growing now all over the place in cracks in concrete and by itself is winter grass. It grows very quickly. It is easily controlled with a hoe or spraying.

IN YOUR GARDEN

by Margaret Pumpa

Ideas for October

Spring, with its warm, longer days is progressing well. We hope frosts are finished and it will be safe to plant out tomatoes now.

I recently read an old article by the great gardener Peter Gundall, which I will share with you. His method of enriching the soil before planting out tomato seedlings was to collect a bucketful of black charcoal lumps from a wood stove or open fireplace. Pulverise these with a lump of wood. Mix half a bucket of these pea-sized pieces and black dust with a special, high potash mixture suitable for tomatoes. It was 1/2 cup seaweed concentrate, 1/2 cup sulphate of potash, a good handful of blood and bone. Bulk out this mix with sheep manure and wet with three litres of water. Result - a black sloppy gruel!

Dig holes for seedlings slightly deeper, fill the bottom third with the gruel, then work into surrounding soil. A seedling went into every hole treated like this, each given an extra circle of potash.

Peter said the results were phenomenal, with fantastic yields and unusually rich delicious flavour. I plan to try this "recipe" this year and would be interested to hear from others who try it too.

Beans, corn, cucumbers, zucchini, melons and pumpkins can all be planted now in frost free areas. Grow your beans, cucumbers and pumpkins UP. Saves space and are easier to pick. Add some companion plants, basil, parsley, etc and edible flowers – violas and merigolds.

Magnolias, lilacs, wisteria are coming to an end with their beautiful fragrant blooms. Feed and let bulbs die down. Roses – flowering now – climbers Claire Matin (pink), Sutters Gold (yellow) and Pierre de Ronsard are beautiful.

Deadhead bush roses to promote longer flowering.

Look out for Oct/Nov open gardens for beautiful displays and great ideas that you can use in your own garden.

Clivias – Great plants for dry shady areas - yellow, orange, red.

Enjoy your peas, broad beans, lettuce etc. Keep up the water, down with the weeds and surround with mulch.

Happy gardening.

AUSTRALIA DAY
IN GREATER HUME

Walla Walla in days gone by

1875, 150 years ago

October 1875. Albury Police Court. Norman Beaton, an elderly Highlander, was charged with having stolen a pair of bagpipes at Walbundrie, belonging to John Macdonald, who was almost totally blind as a result of mining in Victoria in the years previous. Macdonald was a man of little means; he purchased the bagpipes in Melbourne with a view of travelling the country in the company of Mr Beaton and dividing the proceeds equally.

1900, 125 years ago

October 1900. The first Grain Shed at the Railway Station was being built, but it probably was not going to be ready for the start of harvest. The capacity of the shed was 22,500 bags, cost being £405. Much of the timber for the shed construction was already on site at Walla Walla. Bernhard Odewahn and John Wenke, as representatives for the Walla Walla Farmers Union, were adamant that the grain stacked in the shed was to be transported away by rail only.

October 1900. The Walla Walla and Walla West Primary Schools held a picnic at Gum Swamp, a good many people, young and old, turned up for the occasion. During the day, the children enjoyed themselves with racing, jumping, and other amusements. The swamp was full and a magnificent sight, two boats were kept busy all day.

October 1900. The Jindera cricketers played at Walla Walla on the hotel owned recreation ground, (Brinkmann block 2025). Walla Walla won by 36 runs, Walla 64 runs, Jindera 28.

October 1900. Shearing dispute at Walla Walla. The shearers refused to sign the employment agreement because it contained a clause "requiring them shear on Saturday afternoons, if the manager deemed it necessary that it should be done". Management conceded the point in dispute and work proceeded satisfactorily.

1925, 100 Years Ago.

October 1925. Horse Shot Dead. Mr Jacob of "Merino Park" was hunting rabbits with his gun-shy horse. Mr Jacob dismounted to take aim at a rabbit, the horse panicked and moved in front of Mr Jacob, he gave the horse a prod with the barrel of the gun to move it away, the gun fired into the horse's side, "and it dropped dead".

1950, 75 Years Ago.

October 30th 1950. Alma Park Fire Brigade joined with the Walla Subdivision Brigade to form the "Walla Subdivision – Alma Park Rural Bush Fire Brigade." Fees were now 10/- for every landholder up to 50 acres, and 2/- for every 100 acres or part thereof after.

October 1950. At their Annual Meeting, the Walla Walla Volunteer Fire Brigade had just purchased a new fire fighting unit for £170. The meeting also voted to draw up plans and buy material for a new fire station beside the Literary Institute/Soldiers Memorial Hall.

Arts & Design Night

It was an incredible evening celebrating the creativity and talent of our student at this year's Arts & Design Night! Staff, peers, and families were truly inspired by the heartfelt expressions and innovative ideas on display – from identity and storytelling to bold design and artistic innovation.

Guests enjoyed the culinary creations of our Hospitality students, engaging Digital Technology projects, impressive Industrial Technology designs, the sweet sounds of live music, and heart-warming Visual Arts pieces.

The evening highlighted the outstanding efforts of our Year 12 students in presenting their major works, alongside the creativity of students across Years 7–11. We extend our sincere thanks to all who attended to congratulate our students, and to our P&F Association for their ongoing support.

At St Paul's College, we are proud to nurture imagination, courage, and creativity – celebrating the passions, talents, and individuality of every student.

Transition to School Program for 2026 Kindergarten Students

Principal Joanne Cameron will be meeting with parents of our 2026 Kindergarten class in early November to discuss your child's needs and answer any questions. To assist with planning the transition program, we kindly ask that parents enrol their child by Monday, 20 October. Please note that enrolments are accepted throughout the year. We appreciate your cooperation and look forward to supporting your child's successful start to school.
