

EMILY JONES ANNOUNCED AS NSW TRAINEE OF THE YEAR

Greater Hume Council would like to congratulate Youth Officer, Emily Jones who was announced as the 2020 NSW Trainee of the Year. One of six state finalists, Emily took out the top award for the NSW Training Awards in Trainee of the Year category.

Emily was named as the Trainee of the Year in the Riverina Region and winning the State award is recognition of the opportunities traineeships can provide to people who want to remain in their local communities. Greater Hume Council Mayor, Heather Wilton said, "We are very excited for Emily who has been an exceptional trainee and to be able to retain her as an employee and role model to other young people in our communities and our many other trainees is great for Greater Hume Council".

Emily was nominated for her Traineeship at Council in which she completed her Certificate IV in Library and Information Services through TAFE NSW. Emily started her Traineeship at the end of 2017 in the Library/Customer Service and Youth areas and has since successfully completed her traineeship and gained employment with Council in November 2019.

"Traineeships play an important role for Greater Hume Council in developing young locals to take on incredibly important roles within our communities. This recognition is testament to the quality of our work place in the support and the learning and skill development opportunities that are provided locally", Mayor Wilton said.

When asked why she chose to start her traineeship with Council, Emily replied "I've always wanted to help people. Being able to assist a community member who's struggling, confused or curious has given me so much job satisfaction. This traineeship has widened my understanding of all areas of community service. The contacts I've made, the relationships I've forged and the experiences I've gained will stay with me forever, especially the support that I have received from my manager Susan Kane."

Emily will now represent NSW as Trainee of the Year in the Australian Training Awards, the peak national awards that showcase best practice in vocational education and training (VET).

HOLBROOK SPORTS COMPLEX SPORT AWARDS

2020 will not necessarily be remembered for its great sporting moments, but the members of the Holbrook Sporting Complex would love to create one to finish the year with a bang. We are once again calling for nominations for The Bendigo Bank (Holbrook branch) Junior Sports person and Sporting Complex senior sports person of the year awards. The Bendigo Bank Jnr award is open to anyone under 18yrs of age, who has excelled in their chosen sport/sports. This can be at local, regional, state, national or international level. The senior award is not only open for athletes but also administrators, coaches and sporting volunteers. If you or someone you know has managed to play, coach, or organise sport this year and performed well, nominate them. The winners will go on to be nominated in the Greater Hume Shire Sporting awards. Our last year's senior winner, Lucy Grills went on to win this award after what could only be described as an exceptional year of polo crosse. These awards are very prestigious, and we have had some exceptional past winners, but we know that you must be in it to win it so please nominate. It does not matter what sport you play, as long as you are a resident of Holbrook or surrounds. Nominations can be emailed to:

sportscomplexspoty@gmail.com, with name, age and a description of achievements before Tuesday 1 December 2020, or contact Russell Parker on 0402 292 723

ROTARY PAUL HARRIS FELLOWS RECOGNITION

Holbrook Rotarians Craig Rowe and Murray Jones were recognised with Paul Harris Fellows for service towards Rotary and their community at a dinner meeting held at the Woomargama Pub on Thursday October 13.

Presenting the awards, John Cox said the Paul Harris Fellow was named after the Founder of Rotary, Paul Harris. The Rotary Club of Holbrook provided US $1000 for humanitarian and educational programs run by the Rotary Foundation. Money regularly collected to eradicate polio from the countries of the world also counts towards each Paul Harris Fellow.

Craig Rowe was associated with Rotary from an early age through family members. He was invited to join the Holbrook club by friend Bill Wearne. As a member for the past 13 years, Craig has embraced Rotary with enthusiasm, giving freely of his time, and taking on a variety of jobs. He has carried out the roles of youth, president and recently, the catering manager which he does with efficiency, good planning, and hygienic care. Outside Rotary, Craig is involved with Landcare and the Rural Bushfire brigades - a community man!

"The fellowship of the club is a great asset, and it is good to see the club so involved in the community," Craig said. "Being awarded the Paul Harris Fellow makes me proud to be a Holbrook Rotarian."

Murray Jones has always looked up to Rotarians Paul Quick, Leo Mackinlay and John Cox as role models. It has been a goal of his to join Rotary since a close friend Russell Tucker died in an accident at Leeton in 2008. Russell had been a Rotarian and Paul Harris Fellow.

"So, after recovering from a 10-year drought, and a health scare I slowed down the off-farm work and joined in June 2016. I enjoy Rotary and recommend it to everyone," Murray said.

As the Community Service Director Murray organised the white good and waste pick-up in Holbrook during 2018 followed by a shire-wide pick-up in 2019. He planned and organised three hugely successful 4WD Adventure Days for the community, bringing into focus activities with wide appeal.

Murray's community service has been in areas of youth, sport, motorcycles, and bushfire activities. He was part of a committee that built an extension on Holbrook's thriving Early Childhood Centre and was cub scout leader for more than 10 years. A community man!

Rotarians recognised: Congratulations Murray Jones and Craig Rowe

PLANT PICK PLATE

The gardening experts acknowledge the therapeutic benefits of gardening for both the body and the mind with dedicated gardeners agreeing likewise. I have also discovered the benefits of gardening while undertaking tasks to express my physical frustrations and then, by contrast a beautiful meditative zone for the mind in which to be calm. I am talking here about physically and verbally abusing a plant to release tension. Of course I am not referring to my productive vegetables or scented flowers but to the nemesis of my grassed garden, Arctotheca calendula, commonly known as "Capeweed". I cringe at the spreading invasion of the little yellow daisy flowers with black centres, then recall my childhood where I would make daisy chains to wear around my neck, such innocence then. Today I decide to dig each one of these weeds out physically. Armed with my hand weeding tool and a plastic tub I crawl up and down the grass in perfect formation plunging and forcing each Capeweed up vertically from the soil while dragging my quickly filling tub beside me. Under my breath, so not to shock the neighbours, I verbally abuse and curse each plant as it is removed. Therapy!

After an hour or so, my knees ache and the hand blister has burst. Time for meditative therapy to mend the body and calm the mind. A repetitive and boring task of shelling freshly picked peas does the trick. Again, I think back to my childhood when my mother would recruit my sister and I to help with the pea shelling. More peas were eaten and spilt on the floor than placed in the bowl but we had fun. I would argue that therapeutic gardening is not only about the present but also the past and the memories.

Passionate Gardener, June.

ANGLICAN NEWS

We are told not to judge people, but we humans have a tendency to do just that because we make judgments on how we think and feel about things. I once came across a pair of legs poking out from under a truck where a man was lying in a large pool of oil. The man slid out, greeted me and explained that a hydraulic hose had burst and help was on its way, and slid back under the truck into the pool of oil.

I thought to myself, "I will never do something like that." Then I thought the man must need to work to pay his bills otherwise he would not do that. Later that day at a property where I was traveling to, I was met by the same oil covered man who said the Boss lived down there and pointed me to a very fine homestead with high hedges, magnificent gardens, and a large garage with a Rolls Royce, a Bentley, an Aston Martyn, a G.T. Falcon ute, and many others exotic vehicles in it. Wow, I thought, these people must be super rich and never have to work hard. My dad was already waiting for me at the house and I commented on all the wealth around us. Dad said yes, the boss is a fine man and here he comes now. The oil covered man greeted Dad and said, come in, I need to get cleaned up and then we can have a cuppa and talk business.

What a revelation I had! That man in the pool of oil under the truck was a very wealthy man who owned many properties, a chain of international motels, taxi companies around the world, and was one of Australia's richest people. My heart sank within me as I had judged this man to be a half useless nobody. I learned a lesson that day, "Do not judge people until you get your knees under their table and have a cuppa with them." The Bible says that we entertain angels disguised as people, so be nice to all people.

Maybe, that is why Jesus spent a lot of time eating and drinking with undesirables. He wanted to get to know them for real, not just what they looked like. Next time you judge someone, put the hand brake on your opinion and get your knees under their table and have a cuppa with them.

The Parish Picnic was held at Woomargama Park on Sunday the 11th beginning with an open-air service, then lunch and fun and games. Holbrook won the Egg and Spoon race challenge and we look forward to meeting at Woomargama again next year.

Our Annual Flower Show has morphed into a "Flower Sales and Fruit and Veg stalls" which will be held at the Op-Shop, next to the Post Office, on October 24th. Come along and support the Community Gardens and the Anglican Church. All the profit stays in our community. Best wishes from the Anglican Church and Rev Stephen Davis 0429 845 525.

PROBUS

Good news for Probus members.

Morning Tea will be held at the Anglican Hall on Tuesday 27th October at 11:00 am. Come along for a catch up and chat with old friends. A gold coin donation would be appreciated.

See you then. Hopefully this will be the start of the return to good times! Phone Cathy on 0484561638 or Robyn on 0427371751 for more information or if transport is needed.

ST PATRICK'S SCHOOL

Term 4 has started with an excited buzz. It was lovely to welcome the children back and see them excitedly catch up with their friends. The students entered the classrooms with great maturity and were straight into the routine of learning which was pleasing to see.

12 Months Already... Last week marked 1 year since the announcement of my appointment to St. Patrick's Holbrook. On reflection of the last 12 months I want to extend my sincerest thanks for the amazing welcome I have received since relocating from Western Australia to Holbrook. No one could predict the year that has been 2020, and whilst separated geographically from my family and now husband, I have never been alone. So thank you for your generosity of spirit, for welcoming me and the ongoing concern each and every one of you have offered.

Professional Learning: On Monday our staff walked through the changes to Child Protection laws, policies and guidelines. The staff were extremely engaged and reflective of the asset entrusted in our care daily, your children. Please know we at St Patrick's pride ourselves on the high level of care and support every child is offered.

Forward Planning: I now begin the task of planning for 2021. There are some exciting new initiatives being implemented from Catholic Education Wagga Wagga, and at a school level 2021 is gearing up to be an exciting time.

Book Week: October 19-October 23, marks the much anticipated Book Week celebrations. We have a huge week dedicated to celebrating all things books. We have many prizes on offer throughout the celebrations and again I have the privilege of thanking Stuart and his team at Coles Albury for generously donating 80, yes 80 full sized copies of 'The Little Tree House' series.

Rotary: Recently I had the opportunity to address Holbrook Rotary group. The members were greatly interested in my story and what is happening at St. Patrick's School. It was wonderful to be able to share our story and connect with yet another community group. I extend a huge thank you to Murray Jones, for the invitation, and the Holbrook Rotary Club for their vested interest in education and the educational outcomes of the children of Holbrook.

Skate Park Design Competition: Please head over to the library and peruse the Skate Park designs on display. Our S3 students put together proposals and entered them for consideration. It would be wonderful if their ideas can be brought to life and implemented for the community to enjoy. Don't forget to vote for your favourite one when you are there.

Congratulations: St Patrick's School Community would like to extend our congratulations to Emily Jones who was awarded NSW Trainee of the Year. The Youth of Holbrook are in good hands under Emily's initiatives!

In partnership we continue to build our humble little school. Always remember, 'From Little Things Big Things Grow'.

Enjoying the challenge whilst playing on school grounds.

HOLBROOK PUBLIC SCHOOL

All staff and students have returned to school for all the events and activities that present themselves in Term 4. It has been wonderful to hear about the students' many adventures during the holiday break.

At the end of Term 3, K-2 immersed themselves in a Gardening Day at school. They came to school armed with their gardening gloves and trowels, and showed their true green thumbs. Weeds were pulled out, plants were transplanted and gardens were redesigned. Well done to all involved. A special thanks to Kelly Glass from Jayfields Nursery for kindly donating soil and seedlings. We look forward to seeing this project continue and evolve.

Our Talent Quest was a huge success at the end of last term. We saw many students show their skills in a variety of talents, including hula hooping, piano playing, drumming, whip cracking and circus skills, just to name a few. Well done to all the students who were brave enough to perform in front of their peers. We were proud of you all!

At the beginning of this term, we welcomed Katie Ridley to our school. Katie is a student at Charles Sturt University in Wagga Wagga, and she is completing a six week teaching practicum block with Mrs Pargeter and the Year 3/4 class.

We are very excited to announce that face to face Kindergarten Orientation days will be starting in Week

4. It will be wonderful to see the pre-schoolers able to come to school in person and enjoy their first experience of school together. We remind all parents and carers that enrolment forms must be provided to the school before each child can begin their orientation. There are many exciting events coming up this term, including the 5/6 Rugby League/League Tag gala day (22 October), Book Week parade and Book Fair (23 October), Life Education Van (November 23rd), MAMA artist visits and Murray Conservatorium workshops, class speeches, speeches for leadership positions for 2021 (November 25-26) and so much more. Whilst some events have been curtailed, we still have so much to look forward to at Holbrook Public School.

LEST WE FORGET – CHARLES HEATHER

Born in Holbrook, then the town of Germanton, in 1892, Corporal Charles Heather was the son of Frederick and Martha Heather. He was working as a carpenter when the First World War broke out and he enlisted in June 1916.

In early October that year Heather embarked from Sydney bound for England. After training, Heather proceeded with his Battalion, the 13th to France, arriving for service on the Western Front in December 1916.

It was 26th March 1918, when Charles Heather was killed in action. He was on patrol duty, acting as scout while his company were marching up a trench line to fill in a gap. Unexpectedly, he ran into the enemy and in discovering the Germans, Heather sounded the alarm and in doing so was fatally hit by a German machine gun bullet. According to a witness, if Heather had not given his company a warning of the incoming Germans the party, "would in all probability [have] been wiped out". Heather was buried at Hebuterne Cemetery but later the location was lost. Although now Corporal Heather has no known grave, his name is commemorated at Villers-Bretonneux Memorial in France. Charles Heather was said to be a "very fine man, well liked and respected."

HOLBROOK LANDCARE

Holbrook Landcare welcomed Minister for the Environment The Hon Sussan Ley MP to the office last Thursday. This was a great opportunity to discuss current projects with Sussan as well as to showcase Holbrook Landcare's future focus. Of particular interest was the current Adaptive Farming Systems project which is funded through the Australian Government's National Landcare Program. This project is aimed at identifying how local producers are adapting their management systems to take account for changes in climate, while considering risk and environmental outcomes. Sussan was keen to engage with landholders who have been involved with this project and a quick visit to Jono & Francine Hassall's property "Jergyle", to the south of Holbrook, provided an excellent example of how a family business is implementing strategies that keep abreast of these issues. We would like to thank Sussan Ley MP for her time on Thursday and look forward to her continuing support of local landcare groups.

MEALS ON WHEELS - COVID CONNECTIONS

How many of you keep photos on your wall of loved ones with anticipation of seeing them again? Pondering about how much they have changed during this Covid pandemic.

For some they don't live very far away but the opportunity to see them is in the distant future with all the border restrictions and limits on travel, or it may be the ability of driving yourself to a location is no longer an option. Most of us are able to call our family or friends on the phone and catch up, but it's not the same as seeing them in person.

We hear of this world where loved ones are connected via the internet but have no idea where to start to use this service. Imagine help to set up and use a device to talk with your family face to face.

Holbrook Meals on Wheels have successfully set up this service to assist older people in the community to use an iPad to facilitate applications like FaceTime and Skype to connect with family and friends.

Offering one on one training to learn how to use the device, make calls and of course download and play some fantastic games. It is a great opportunity to connect with not only those who live far away but also connect locally to family or friends who live just down the road. We still have 1 iPad available for a FREE 12-month loan!

If this sounds exciting to you please give Meals on Wheels a call on 6036 3677, they will assist you with options and answer any questions you might have about the service.

TRAVELLING TALES AT LADY GAIL'S BOOKSHOP AND CURIOS

Many years ago, a family from Melbourne going to Canberra stopped at my shop. I had noted Mum, Dad one daughter and three sons. One boy spotted a Harry Potter pack for $15. "Can I have this Mum?" he asked. She looks and says no. He nags and nags. I can see the mother is very uncomfortable. He nags some more. In my serious grandmother voice I say, "You keep saying-but it's only $15 Mum. Let me ask you if your mother spent $15 on one of your siblings would you expect her to spend the same amount on you?" "Oh, well yes," he said. "So it is not $15 but $60," I said. "No," he said. "It is $75, there are five of us." He turned to his mother and said, "Sorry Mum." When paying, the mother explained that they had scrimped and saved for this holiday and were on a tight budget. She gladly paid $1 for a book for each of her children, $2 for a book for Dad and $1 for a magazine for herself. Everyone was happy for $8.

The family still call in. The little boy, all grown up, has told me it was the best lesson he ever had.
